

TBS Ltd. is a leading systems integrator, consultant and partner in solutions for information security and communications of many companies and government agencies in Bulgaria. Founded in 2006 as an authorized reseller of telecommunications equipment Ericsson, the company gradually started to enrich its portfolio of products and services, partnering with highly renowned international companies such as Aastra, Cisco, Avaya, Motorola, Siemens, ICSL and others. In order to ensure professional execution of complex communication projects, the company is actively investing in the specialization of its team. To guarantee the highest quality of service, TBS Ltd. has introduced an integrated system for Quality Management and Information Security in compliance with the international standards ISO 9001:2008 and ISO 27001: 2005.

In its scope of operations, TBS Ltd. has successfully completed various projects, including provision of corporate communications, supply, installation and maintenance of traditional and IP telecommunications equipment, modernization of communication and information equipment, integration of Radio Relay equipment, design and installation of video surveillance systems, supply of servers, computers and peripherals, integrated solutions for information security, encryption of mobile and fixed communications, etc.

Since the beginning of 2009, TBS Ltd. has invested in the development of a new specialized unit in the U.S., with the main activity of research, testing, development and integration of products for the public safety and law enforcement sector. The successful collaboration with leading U.S. companies in this field, led to key partnerships as well as to the introduction for the first time on the European market of innovative solutions that facilitate the work of security agencies.

Following our vision, we at TBS Ltd. will continue to be a promoter of the technological innovations introduced by our partners and a symbol of high professionalism for our customers.
